Course Overview

This section gives you an introduction to what you will be learning in this course, plus course outcomes, career opportunities, and student support.

Introduction

This course provides you with the advanced practical skills and technical knowledge required to work in marine engineering roles within the maritime industry. This qualification prepares you to operate, maintain, and troubleshoot marine engines and vessel systems on commercial vessels operating in near coastal waters.

You will gain hands-on experience through a combination of classroom learning, practical training, and industry-aligned assessment activities. The course focuses on marine engineering operations, safety procedures, engine maintenance, fault diagnosis, and emergency response, preparing you for a range of engineering roles onboard commercial vessels.

Successful completion of this qualification contributes towards eligibility for the Australian Maritime Safety Authority (AMSA) Marine Engine Driver Grade 2 Near Coastal Certificate of Competency, subject to AMSA requirements, including sea service.

What will I Learn?

During this course, you will learn how to:

- Operate and maintain marine engines and auxiliary systems
- Diagnose and respond to mechanical and operational faults
- Apply maritime safety procedures and emergency response practices
- Monitor and maintain vessel engineering systems
- Perform routine maintenance and repairs in engine room environments
- Use seamanship skills and survival techniques in maritime operations
- Work effectively as part of a vessel crew
- Follow maritime regulations and operational procedures

Training combines theory and practical learning to build the confidence and technical skills required in real maritime environments.

Mode of delivery

This course is delivered over six weeks through a combination of classroom theory, practical skills training, and support for completing assessments. Students participate in teacher-led theory classes, supervised practical activities, and supported learning sessions designed to develop industry-ready maritime engineering skills.

The course also includes Australian Maritime Safety Authority (AMSA) Mandated Practical Assessments (AMPAs), which are integrated into the practical assessment requirements. AMPAs are conducted in small groups of no more than five students, in line with AMSA requirements. Students may complete vessel-based assessments with an AMSA-approved assessor or participate in teacher-managed practical assessments and supported completion activities.

Note: Elements of this course may be delivered from another SWTAFE campus or location, including but not limited to Warrnambool, Port Fairy, and Portland. Students may be required to make their own way to these locations, depending on the availability of suitable transport and staffing.
