Course Overview

This section gives you an introduction to what you will be learning in this course, plus course outcomes, career opportunities, and student support.

Introduction

Under the OHS Act 2004 (section 67), all elected Health and Safety Representatives (HSR) and deputy HSRs are entitled to attend an Initial HSR Training course or a Refresher HSR training course every 12 months. HSRs are entitled to choose their training course in consultation with their employer.

This WorkSafe-approved Health and Safety Representative (HSR) Initial Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) Training Course at SWTAFE provides you with the skills and knowledge to represent members of your designated work group to help make their workplace safer.

This course is not only suited to those undertaking a Health and Safety Representative role in their workplace but also for managers and supervisors in the organisation.

What will I Learn?

- Interpreting the occupational health and safety legislative framework and its relationship to the HSR
- Identifying key parties and their legislative obligations and duties
- Establishing representation in the workplace
- Participating in consultation and issue resolution
- Represent designated work group members in any OHS risk management process undertaken by the appropriate duty holders
- Issuing a Provisional Improvement Notice (PIN) and directing the cessation of work
